Remarks

Claims 1 to 25 inclusive are being prosecuted

By this amendment minor typos in the disclosure and claim 1 have been corrected and a defective printing which printed " \square " rather than \AA as was clearly intended and on several occasions a " \square " rather than α was also printed and these have also been corrected (2 print drivers later). The reference to manganese on page 3 line 19 has been corrected to say nickel and the term s has been more clearly identified as seconds (it was obvious in the document and is now specified). Other minor typos have also been corrected. No new matter has been entered.

An Information Disclosure Statement together with the documents referred to (one of which is not a reference against this application, but provide further information relating to the invention) are attached.

It is believed that t the Application is now in condition to be examined and favorable consideration is respectfully requested.
